

SANAD

Students Supporting Students

Project Definition:

SANAD is a peer-support platform that connects university students who need academic assistance with students who can provide help in a specific subject or skill.

Project Objectives:

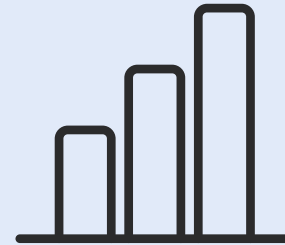

01

Connect

Connect students who need academic help with students who can provide it.

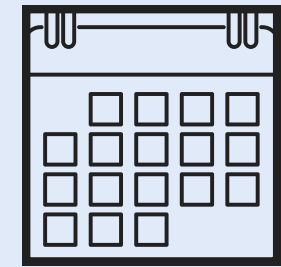

02

Support

Make it easier for students to request and provide academic help.

03

Organize

Allow students to arrange suitable sessions for academic support.

Project Scope:

The project focuses on peer-to-peer academic support among university students. It covers requesting and offering help in academic subjects and technical skills, arranging support sessions, and providing basic feedback. The platform does not include paid tutoring, professional instructors, or completing academic work on behalf of students.
